The homestay program provides the unique experience of sharing a home with a family or single host in the United States. This provides a safe environment to learn and practice English while also becoming accustomed to American life and culture. Each host family is different. Some have children or pets, while some do not. Some are single parents, others are working professionals and some are retired. Hosts will inform students of household rules and customs that take place in their home. Students are expected to live with their host as family members, follow household rules and be respectful and courteous at all times. If there are any issues please discuss them with the housing coordinator for the homestay program at Embassy CES. Your host is excited to be part of your experience while you study at Pacific Lutheran University.

Please take careful note of the dates for orientation. You MUST arrive at your host's home before the first day of orientation.
