Oxford-IHON Supplemental Application – Spring 2016

Students interested in participating in the PLU Gateway Oxford-IHON Program must, in addition to the required Wang Center Semester Study Away Application, complete the following supplementary application.

1. Essay:

In combination with the essay component in the Wang Center application, please address the following:

- a. A brief description of your academic experience to date
- b. An explanation of how this experience relates to the overall Oxford-IHON programmatic theme of social justice
- c. The tutorial you would like to study at Oxford, and how you are prepared to undertake these challenges. Students participating in tutorials at Oxford:
 - receive individual attention from an Oxford professor
 - have the flexibility to design a curriculum suited to particular academic requirements and interests
 - write and present weekly essays that form the basis of tutorial discussions
 - are graded by the same standards expected of degree candidates (i.e., grades are based on tutorial essays, tutorial discussions and sometimes written examinations)
- d. Oxford also offers a unique cultural experience. Based on your understanding of the importance of being involved one's surroundings, how do you see yourself engaging in life at Oxford?

2. Resume:

Please submit a resume documenting your work and extra-curricular activities.

3. References:

Ask two PLU faculty to fill out the Wang recommendation forms plus written letters of recommendation. These must be from professors that you have known for at least one full semester, who the selection committee may contact for reference information.

4. Interview:

After reviewing complete applications after the March 13th deadline, the selection committee will invite students to be interviewed the week of March 16-20.

If you have any questions about the application, please do not hesitate to contact the IHON Director or the director of the Oxford-IHON Program.
