PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Students in this course will study the history and modern-day practice of religions important in China, Korea, and Japan by exploring religious sites in Honolulu's ethnically diverse back streets and mountain valleys. This course is hands on, and it is also reading intensive, so students should be prepared to spend a good portion of the time we are not in class or on site visits reading primary texts for class. Note: Much of our travel within Honolulu will be by public bus, and there will be a lot of walking. This course satisfies both the RG (global religions) and C (cross-cultural diversity) Ged Ed requirements.
