Dear Graduate:

Let us be the first to welcome you to the PLU Alumni Online Community, a database that includes a searchable directory of all alumni, a career mentoring site, job postings, community yellow pages, and your very own permanent PLU email address.

Many of you have already registered and begun using the network. Those that haven't, we hope at your earliest possible convenience you will take a minute to join your colleagues and friends and get acquainted with all the community has to offer. Registration is free and easy...all you need is your Student ID number.

PLU's online directory will help you find classmates, as well as search for alumni by class years, ZIP codes, employment fields, college clubs and more. In addition, you will be able to update your own record online and submit information for PLU's alumni magazine, Scene.

Your security is important to us, so we have taken several steps to ensure your protection:

YOU CONTROL YOUR RECORD. You have complete control of what information is displayed, and you can, if you prefer, choose not to be listed. Only you and PLU can make changes to your record. No one can download it for spam email, mass mailings, or other system abuses.

PASSWORD PROTECTION. Only PLU alumni will have access to the system. You will be prompted to provide specific information, including a unique, personal access code (your 8-digit Student ID number). After your first visit to the system, you can select your own password that will permit you to use all the system's features.

OPT-OUT. If you wish to not have your information displayed in the Alumni Online Community, please contact The Office of Constituent Relations and ask to have your record hidden from public view.

Every student cleared to graduate has recently been added to our Online Community. To start using this service, visit the PLU alumni website at www.plualumni.org, select register now under Online Community on the left side of the page, and follow the instructions. If your record is not current, please make any updates directly or call us and we will update the record for you. Of course, if you have trouble, questions or comments, please contact us at 800-ALUM-PLU or alumni@plu.edu.

We hope you find the online community a useful tool to meet new Lutes both near and far and stay close to classmates who are already an important part of your life.
