

United Singers...The Choir of the West and the University Chorale become one on stage before a performance. -April Reynolds

Going Solo...Erik Larson gives listeners a beautiful solo performance. He charmed many ladies that day. -April Reynolds

Heartful Singing...Choir of the West performers: Stephanie Lund, Greg Fryhling, Darren Kerbs, and Cathy Gard sing their hearts out as a quartette. -April Reynolds

Forever Singing

Choir of the West, under the direction of Richard Sparks, toured through Montana during Spring Break. Another highlight was the feature of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, which was performed along with The University Chorale and University Symphony.

Richard Nance directed the University Chorale that sang closer to Tacoma this year. Besides a weekend tour to Bend, Oregon, the group stayed close to home singing in area churches and around campus.

The 23 members of Richard Nance's University Singers shared their music with our neighbors to the North as they traveled to Vancouver, B.C.

The program featured music by Dvorak and Gardner.

The Park Avenue Singers did most of the extensive travel this year as they shared their talents with the Australian continent during interim. The group was invited to help raise money after fires devastated the area. The vocal music groups of PLU shared their talents and music with the world.

-Layout Rachelle Hubert

Vocal

Together Voices... Jennifer Gailband, Greg Fryhling, Stephanie Lund, Nathan Sears, and Sara Vannice demonstrate the remarkable talents each one of them possesses. -April Reynolds