

Environmental Studies Capstone Presentations

Friday May 18, 2018

Time	Presenter	Title
Morken 137
10:10-10:30	Durant Abernethy	Do Humans Have an Obligation to Respond to Threats Posed by Non-Native Plants in National Parks?
10:30-10:50	Victoria Sondall	Talking Trash: The Short Shelf Life and The Never Ending Desire to Acquire
10:50-11:10	Emily Menefee	Human Fulfillment and Deforestation in The Lorax
BREAK
11:20-11:40	Collin Ray	Hobbiton to Parkland: Tolkien's Meaning of Home
11:40-12:00	Brock Martin	Cultural Valuing of the Environment and Awareness of Human-Environment Interactions
12:00-12:20	Drew Harka	Climate Change: Finding a Common Ground
Lunch
Morken 125
12:50-1:10	Kim Mai	Environmental Justice and Gender: Making Connections Between Machismo and the Maquiladoras in Mexico
1:10-1:30	Ben Acord	On Environmental Policy and Self-Interest
1:30-1:50	Hannah Stephens	Deforestation in Thailand: Re-Envisioning "Ecological Thinking" in Thai Culture
2-2:30 ENVT 350 Presentation—Morken 103
2:40-3:00	Jessica Christensen	The Role the Hindu Worldview Plays on Perceptions of Natural Earth Processes on the Indian Subcontinent
3-3:20	Siani Beck	Responding to Food Deserts: Addressing Structural Inequity Through Quantitative Literacy and Practical Christianity Theology