Request for Immunization Exemption

Exemptions can be made based on medical, religious or personal grounds. If a student is granted an exemption and there is a suspected disease outbreak on campus, the student may be restricted from the campus for the duration of the outbreak. In addition, exempt students may be ineligible for certain university-sponsored activities. These may include (but are not limited to) off-campus programs and classes, athletic programs and competitions, and study abroad.

My signature below indicated that I understand the possible restrictions stipulated above.
