Dear supervisor:

In order to provide a safe learning environment on our campus, Pacific Lutheran University (PLU) is asking our residential students to self-quarantine for three days before testing for COVID-19, and another period of self-quarantine while waiting for their test results. During self-quarantine, students should stay in their residences, separate themselves from others, and monitor their health for symptoms of COVID-19.

We hope that you will work with the PLU students you supervise to help them meet these self-quarantine requirements. We appreciate your flexibility in arranging their work schedules accordingly.

Please feel free to contact the university at fadmin@plu.edu if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Teri Phillips
Chief Operating Officer
COVID-19 Site Supervisor for PLU
