CAN THE CAN CONTRACT

This contract is entered into on the Day__ Month__ Year between Pacific Lutheran University (hereinafter known as “PLU”) located in the heart of Parkland in Pierce County, Washington and YOU (hereinafter known as “Recycling Hero”) concerning a campaign presently known as “Can the Can”.

This contract is not legal or binding, but we (PLU) expect you, Recycling Hero, to go along with it anyway because you’re a good sport.

I. By virtue of your participation in the “Can the Can” campaign you agree to the following:

   A. Recycling Hero will recycle all possible waste while at work at PLU.

   B. Items not recyclable in Recycling Hero’s immediate work area will be taken to the nearest recycling bin.

   C. Recycling Hero will call Facilities Management to pick up any items not recycling in standard recycling bins.

   D. Further, Recycling Hero agrees that his/her trash is his/her responsibility. Recycling Hero needs to empty his/her own green can when it is full or at other appropriate intervals (like if it starts to stink).

   E. Recycling Hero will call Facilities Management if issues pertaining to recycling arise. Recycling Hero recognizes that in order to make recycling convenient and easy for everyone on campus, we must all do our part.

   F. Recycling Hero agrees to ASK QUESTIONS if s/he is uncertain about whether a specific item is recyclable.

II. Term of Contract:

The term of this nonbinding contract is FOREVER. Or as long as you work at PLU, that is. Of course, you can back out and start throwing away things that can be recycled, but as a Recycling Hero, you wouldn’t feel very good about that.

Upon breach of contract, nothing will happen. It’s up to you, Recycling Hero, to do the right thing.
