About the Performers

Caitlyn Babcock, contralto, is a third-year vocal performance major at PLU from Puyallup, Washington. She has been singing in choirs for nine years and studying solo voice for six. She currently studies with Dr. Soon Cho. Caitlyn is a member of the Choir of the West. When not singing, she can be found either at a piano or stress baking pastries for her roommates and family.

Amy Boers, piano, is one of the region's most sought-after collaborative artists. As such she is well known as a pianist, coach, teacher and music director. She serves as collaborative artist with PLU, Symphony Tacoma Chorus and Symphony Tacoma. Amy has conducted honor choirs, coached choral conductors, and most recently led workshops for choral conductors and collaborative artists across the Northwest and Canada. She lives in Milton with her husband Geoffrey.

Lexi Castillo, bass, is a fourth-year student at PLU from Tacoma, Washington. She is pursuing a Bachelor of Music Education degree with a concentration in orchestra, as well as a certification to teach band. She has been playing bass for twelve years and is currently studying with Dr. Anna Jensen. When she has free time, Lexi enjoys learning new instruments, performing, and hiking at Mt. Rainier.

Alyson Rake, viola, is a third-year student from Helena, Montana, pursuing a major in viola performance. She has been playing viola for twelve years and studies with Professor Korine Fujiwara. When she's not practicing, she probably should be.

Marilyn Willis, viola, is a third-year music education major from Boise, Idaho. They have been playing viola for eleven years, and enjoy learning new instruments whenever they can. Marilyn is a member of the PLUSO and is currently studying viola with Professor Korine Fujiwara. Outside of school they enjoy reading fantasy novels, being outside, and playing games with friends.
