

What kind of conditions can you portray?

Different simulators have different capabilities. If you would like to see what features each simulator possess, click on the simulator's name on the School of Nursing Simulation Operations page! Depending on the simulator in use, conditions such as asthma, postpartum hemorrhage, wound infection, hypertension, shock, seizures, and more can be portrayed!