PROGRAM OVERVIEW

This course invites students to get to know Rwanda, the Land of a Thousand Hills. The most infamous feature of its recent past, the 1994 genocide of nearly a million Tutsis and moderate Hutus by Hutu extremists, will form the foundation of our explorations. We will meet with survivors and perpetrators of the genocide and visit numerous genocide sites and memorials to consider the country's ongoing and varied attempts to honor its dead and acknowledge responsibility. We will also explore Rwanda's peace and reconciliation work. In addition, we will look at national rebuilding efforts through visits to a national park, national museums, and schools.
