GRADUATE SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS POLICY

INTRODUCTION

When students accept financial aid at Pacific Lutheran University (PLU), they also accept responsibility for maintaining satisfactory academic progress (SAP). The policy at PLU is required by both federal and Washington State financial aid regulations. It allows students to continue receiving federal, state, and institutional financial aid as long as they are meeting the minimum standards of satisfactory academic progress as defined in this policy.

This policy is reviewed on an annual basis. Should the policy change, students will be notified.

OVERVIEW AND REGULATIONS

For the purpose of receiving financial aid, satisfactory academic progress is monitored using the following three factors: maximum timeframe, pace of completion, and grade point average (GPA).

- MAXIMUM TIMEFRAME

Federal and Institutional Aid Policy

- Graduate students at PLU may receive financial aid for no longer than 150% of the published length of the academic program. For instance, if a graduate degree for a student requires 90 credits, financial aid cannot be awarded to the student beyond 135 credits.

$$90 \text{ (credits required to graduate)} \times 150\% = 135$$

A student is ineligible for financial aid once it becomes mathematically impossible to complete the program within 150% of its published length. In other words, a student can become ineligible for financial aid prior to reaching the maximum timeframe if it is deemed impossible for the student to graduate within 150% of the program's published length.

State Aid Policy

- Washington State limits receipt of State Work Study funding to 125% of a student's academic program length. If a graduate degree requires 60 credits, then State Work Study terminates once 75 credits have been earned.

$$60 \text{ (credits required to graduate)} \times 125\% = 75$$

Even if a student changes academic programs, eligibility for State Work Study funding terminates once the student has reached the 125% maximum timeframe.

- PACE OF COMPLETION

Federal and Institutional Aid Policy

Students receiving financial aid are expected to successfully complete at least 67% of the credits they attempt on a cumulative basis. For example, if a student's cumulative attempted credits are 45, the student must have successfully completed at least 30 of those credits. For the purpose of this measurement, all of the following apply:

- Successful completion is defined as a grade of C- or higher, or a grade of P for courses that are pass/fail.
- All other grades – including incomplete grades – are counted in the attempted hours total, but not in the completed hours total. If an incomplete grade is later converted to a grade that is considered to be a successfully complete grade, pace of completion will be recalculated.
- Students who drop courses but remain enrolled at the university will not have those dropped courses counted in the attempted credits total provided the courses are dropped prior to the 10th day of class for the term. Courses dropped after the 10th day of class for the term will be counted in the attempted credits total.
- Repeated courses are counted as attempted credits during all attempts.
NOTE: Financial aid may be used to pay tuition charges for only one retake of a previously passed course. Subsequent attempts are included as attempted credits for the purpose of measuring pace of completion and maximum timeframe, but they cannot be paid for with financial aid. Furthermore, subsequent attempts cannot be used to determine enrollment status for that term. For instance, if 4 of a student's 8 semester credits are being repeated for a second time, this student will be considered a half-time student with 8 credits.
- Modular courses that are dropped prior to their start date do not count as attempted credits.
- All transfer credits accepted by the Office of the Registrar count as both attempted and completed credits.
- Students with a pace of completion below 25% after their first term of enrollment at PLU will immediately be placed on financial aid suspension.

State Aid Policy

To retain State Work Study eligibility, awardees must earn the required number of hours based on the number of credits for which they registered as outlined below. Credits are considered successfully earned for grades of C- or higher, or a grade of P for classes that are pass/fail. All other grades, including F, E, W, WM, I, and IP, are not considered successfully earned credits for the purposes of State Work Study.

Table 1

Enrollment	Credits Required	SAP Warning	SAP Denial
Full-time (8+ credits)	8 credits	4 - 7 credits	< 4 credits
3/4 time (6 - 7 credits)	6 credits	4 - 7 credits	< 3 credits
1/2 time (4 - 5 credits)	4 credits	2 - 3 credits	< 2 credits
&lt; 1/2 time (1 – 3 credits)	100% of credits	1 – 2 credits	0 credits

Students may receive continue their employment in the State Work Study program during the one semester Warning Status period. Failure to satisfactorily complete 100% of the Credits Required (listed above) during the warning semester will result in denial of further eligibility for the State Work Study program will no longer be eligible of employer reimbursement (which may result in the student’s termination from employment).

Students whose eligibility in the State Work Study program has been terminated for failure to meet the progress requirements must satisfactorily complete the Credits Required (listed above) in a subsequent semester of enrollment without the benefit of State Work Study to reestablish eligibility.

- GRADE POINT AVERAGE (GPA): All graduate students enrolled at PLU are expected to maintain a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 in order to remain eligible for federal, state, and institutional financial aid. Students with a GPA under 2.0 after their first term of enrollment at PLU will immediately be placed on financial aid suspension. The following grades are not used in calculating grade point averages as no grade points are earned: P, F, I, IP, AU, W, WM, NG.

- FINANCIAL AID WARNING

With the exception of Jterm, satisfactory academic progress is evaluated at the end of each term once grades post. Students who are not making SAP are notified at their PLU email address regarding their status and any financial aid implications.

With the exception of Jterm, satisfactory academic progress is evaluated at the end of each term once grades post. Students who are not making SAP are notified at their PLU email address regarding their status and any financial aid implications.

If a student fails to achieve the minimum GPA or pace of completion requirement, that student is not making satisfactory academic progress. The term following the first term in which a student does not make SAP is a warning period. The warning period lasts for one term only, and during this time, the student will remain eligible for financial aid. For students placed on warning, a notice will be sent to the student explaining the warning period and the requirements for reestablishing satisfactory academic progress.

FINANCIAL AID SUSPENSION

If a student fails to make SAP for a second consecutive semester while on warning, the student's financial aid will be suspended at that point. A notice will be sent to the student explaining how to restore financial aid eligibility and/or submit an appeal of the suspension.

APPEALS

Students may appeal a financial aid suspension on the basis of extenuating circumstances. Students must submit the SAP Appeal Form along with a letter of appeal and supporting documentation as soon as possible upon receiving a suspension notice. Student Financial Services will respond to all appeals as soon as possible in the order they are received. Appeal decisions are final and binding and not subject to further appeal. Not all appeals will be approved, and appeals from parties other than the student will not be accepted.

All appeals should include the following:

- The reasons why the standards of the SAP policy were not met.
- What has changed that will allow the student to make satisfactory academic progress in the future.
- An academic plan outlining how the student will achieve the standards of satisfactory academic progress in the future. An academic plan should project a student's schedule and grades for one or more terms and be signed by both the student and the student's academic advisor.
- Documentation of the student's extenuating circumstances. Extenuating circumstances include an injury or illness of the student, a death of a family member, or other special circumstances as determined by the Office of Student Financial Services.

If an appeal is approved, the student will be placed in a probationary period for one or more terms as determined by the Office of Student Financial Services. Students must meet or exceed the terms and conditions of the probationary period in order to continue receiving financial aid.

If the appeal is not approved, the student will remain ineligible to receive financial aid until the student is once again meeting the minimum standards of this policy. Until then, the student will be responsible for paying all university costs without the benefit of financial aid. The student will receive notification of this decision by email.

State Aid Appeal Policy

Because the SAP policies for state aid and federal and institutional aid are different, it is possible for a student to be in denied status for state aid and either good or warning status for federal and institutional aid. Students appealing denial of state aid only should follow the appeal procedures outlined above. Since the quantitative measurement for state aid is not cumulative but rather term by term, academic plans for appeals of state aid denials should be one academic term only. For appeals that are approved, students will be placed in probation status for one term only. If, during the term of probation, a student does not successfully earn the minimum number of required credits as outlined in Table 1 of this policy, the student will be denied further eligibility for State Work Study. Furthermore, earnings under the State Work Study program will no longer be eligible for employer reimbursement (which may result in the student's employment being terminated). For appeals that are not approved, students must successfully earn the minimum number of required credits as outlined in Table 1 of this policy in a subsequent semester of enrollment without the benefit of State Work Study to reestablish eligibility.
