

IAU

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, FRANCE

IAU's primary home in Europe is Aix-en-Provence, a town located in the southern region of France. The city of Aix (pronounced like the letter "X") provides traditional French culture in an intimate setting while offering the charm and elegance of a large metropolis. The historic town is known for its beloved painter, Paul Cézanne, who painted the nearby rolling landscape. While abroad, students explore Aix and the surrounding regions through field study trips associated with specific classes, study tours, day trips, and cultural activities. These field studies give students an enhanced awareness of Provençal culture and a unique and unparalleled French experience.

terms

- Fall Semester
- Spring Semester
- Summer
- January Term

courses

- Anthropology
- Arabic
- Archaeology
- Architecture
- Art History
- Business
- Communications
- Creative Writing
- Cross Cultural Studies
- Economics
- Education
- English
- Environmental Science
- French
- Geography
- History
- Hospitality Management
- International Relations
- Linguistics
- Literature
- Philosophy
- Photography
- Political Science
- Psychology
- Religious Studies
- Studio Art
- Theatre
- Wine Studies

facts

- No previous French experience required
- Internships & volunteer opportunities available
- Robust student services support
- Local homestay accommodations for all students
- Customized/faculty-led program options

enroll@iau.edu | 800-221-2051 | iau.edu