

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

These policies generally apply to undergraduate PLU students. The Wang Center reserves the right to adapt these policies as necessary due to unforeseen global crises. If you have any questions or comments, please contact the Wang Center at 253-535-7577 or wang.center@plu.edu.

Academics.....	1-2
Cell Phone.....	3
Disability Support Services.....	3
Eligibility and Application Process.....	3-4
Fees and Financial aid Cancellation and Refund.....	5-9
Housing during Study Away.....	9
Insurance.....	9
LGBTQ+.....	9
Meals during Study Away.....	9
Non-U.S. Passport Holders.....	10
Program Petition.....	10
Refunds.....	10
Safety and Travel Warnings.....	10
Senior Residency Requirement.....	11
Student Conduct.....	11
Summer Programs.....	11
Transfer Students.....	11
Veteran Students.....	11

ACADEMICS

Credit for Study Away Courses

Prior to studying off-campus on semester or year-long programs and on short-term programs through study away providers, students must work with their academic advisors to determine how courses taken and credits earned will fit with their academic goals and degree planning at PLU. This academic planning for semester and summer programs is documented on the Assignment of Credit for Study Away form; the Assignment of Credit form is not required for PLU short-term faculty-led study away courses.

For courses to count towards a major, minor or GenEd (General Education Requirement), students must use the Assignment of Credit for Study Away form to obtain the signatures of their academic advisors and the written approval from the chairs of the involved academic departments. For example, for a History course taken on a study away program to apply towards a student's History major, the chair of the History Department must give advance written approval on the Assignment of Credit for Study Away form.

As soon as it is completed and approved, and in advance of the student's departure date, the Assignment of Credit for Study Away form must be submitted to the Wang Center. In some cases the approval must be obtained after the program start date (i.e. course registration on-site changes the original plan). Failure to obtain approvals will result in elective credits.

PLU Gateway and Featured programs have established course equivalencies that are available on the Registrar's website under the Interactive Guide. Students should use the Assignment of Credit form to communicate to the Wang Center how to assign the credits even in the case where a signature is not required.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

The “C” Cross Cultural Perspectives GenEd requirement is fulfilled by participating in a semester of study away. This requirement is completed only through specifically designated short-term (J-Term, spring break or summer) courses. Refer to the PLU Course Catalog for clarification.

Studying off-campus through an approved study away provider must be documented by an official transcript, which should be sent to the Wang Center. It is also advisable for students to retain class notes, graded papers, syllabi, and any certified documents of attendance provided by the school.

The number of credit hours a student receives for a particular course or semester is determined by the program provider (PLU or otherwise) and is reflected on her or his PLU transcript. Please contact your program administrator to determine the equivalencies for credit hours.

While studying away for a semester, students must take a minimum of 12 credits per semester and may exceed the 17 credit hour limit without incurring financial penalty when taking courses as part of the study away program.

While studying away, students are registered by the Wang Center for a block of 12 SABR credits. This holds his or her place as a full-time student over the course of the program. Once the program is complete and the Wang Center receives the transcript, the transcript will be reconciled with the Assignment of Credit form and sent to the Registrar’s office for review. The Registrar will then add individual courses, grades, and specific credit hours to the student’s PLU transcript.

Grading

Students participating on PLU directed and approved study away programs – both short-term and long-term – receive letter grades for their coursework. Courses, credits and grades are recorded on the PLU transcript. Grades for semester study away are not calculated into the cumulative PLU GPA unless the student is participating in a study away course with a PLU instructor on record including independent studies, PLU short-term faculty-led programs, and select courses taught by PLU faculty. Majors with a minimum GPA requirement for graduation will factor in study away grades to determine eligibility for graduation (ex. School of Business). Students should contact their department for more details.

Students may elect to use the pass/fail grading option for study away courses if that option is still available to them and the program allows it. Students are responsible for arranging the pass/fail option with their program provider and the PLU Student Services Center and must follow the PLU calendar to adhere to the appropriate deadline.

To earn credit for study away classes, students must earn a passing grade in accordance with published PLU policy.

Independent Study

Students wishing to register for an independent study while studying away must complete a Study Away Independent Study Registration card. For independent studies outside of the normal parameters of their program, students will be charged for the additional credit hours.

International Honors Program

With prior approval by the IHON program director, an appropriate semester-long course abroad may take the place of one 200-level IHON course. Such a course must focus on a contemporary issue, be international in scope, be interdisciplinary, and require honor’s-level critical thinking and writing.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

CELL PHONES

As part of PLU's commitment to student safety and security, PLU highly recommends that all students have a working cell phone capable of making and receiving both local and international calls throughout the duration of the program. While alternative communication methods that rely on wifi can be free or cheaper than cell service, i.e. Facetime, Skype, WhatsApp, etc., those do not meet emergency communication needs.

Students on PLU Gateway programs are required to have a cell phone as described above throughout the duration of the program.

DISABILITY SUPPORT SERVICES

As fully enfranchised members of the PLU community, students with disabilities are encouraged to participate in the many opportunities offered by global education at PLU. All university policies related to the Study Away program apply equally to students with disabilities. PLU will work diligently to provide reasonable accommodation to students with disclosed and documented disabilities who want to incorporate study away experiences into their degree programs. Such students are responsible to initiate early planning, including articulation of their academic goals, with their academic advisors, Disability Support Services (DSS), and the Wang Center for Global Education.

Accommodations & Accessibility - PLU will attempt to provide reasonable accommodations to enable participation by students with disabilities even though international study programs are not required to be accessible. Although physical accessibility cannot always be provided, PLU will make every effort for program access and upon request, will provide as much information as possible on accessibility of its Study Away programs. Students registered with disability services who are eligible for on-campus accommodations are also eligible for overseas accommodations when such accommodations can be arranged. Students are encouraged to disclose their disabilities to the Director of Disability Support Services early so appropriate accommodations and special arrangements can be made in advance.

Costs - In keeping with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), no qualified student will be excluded from any course of study on the basis of disability. Students must be aware, however, that the ADA does not extend beyond the bounds of the United States and, therefore, international study programs are not required to be accessible. Even though other countries may or may not have their own disability laws, students must be prepared to cover costs associated with special needs and services they may encounter abroad. It is the student's responsibility to assure that any funding required for special services abroad is arranged well in advance.

ELIGIBILITY AND APPLICATION PROCESS

To be considered for study away programs, students must meet or exceed the following standards:

For all study away programs – students must be currently enrolled at PLU and be in good standing and remain in good standing before and during program participation. Good standing means that students receive academic, health, student conduct, and financial clearances from the University. Program acceptance is conditional pending final determination of good standing prior to the program start date.

Both before and during the program, the Wang Center collaborates with other University offices such as Student Services, Rights and Responsibilities, Health Center, Registrar, and the Business Office to determine good standing. Should the good standing of a student be in question before or during the program he or she is participating in, the Executive Director of the Wang Center convenes the Study Away Clearance Committee on an as-needed basis. This committee is made up of representatives from the aforementioned University offices and other relevant departments as necessary. The Study Away Clearance Committee's purpose is to provide the Wang Center with a recommendation regarding individual students whose good standing status is in question either before or during the program.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

For short-term study away programs – students must successfully complete a minimum of one semester at PLU prior to studying away, be in good standing and meet all other prerequisites specific to the program. Eligibility of transfer students to participate in short-term programs will be determined as outlined in the section on Transfer Students.

For semester and year-long study away programs – students must have completed two or more semesters of study at PLU by the time the program will begin (exceptions apply for Transfer Students and some programs require Junior standing or above), meet the minimum GPA requirement for the program (specifics below), meet all other prerequisites specific to the program; and must be enrolled at PLU in the semester immediately preceding the program start date.

- Chengdu, China = cumulative GPA of 2.7, 3.0 preferred
- Oaxaca, Mexico = cumulative GPA of 3.0
- Oslo, Norway = cumulative GPA of 2.7, 3.0 preferred
- Oxford-IHON = cumulative GPA of 3.6 or higher
- Telemark, Norway = cumulative GPA of 2.7, 3.0 preferred
- Trinidad & Tobago = cumulative GPA of 2.7, 3.0 preferred
- Windhoek, Namibia = cumulative GPA of 3.0
- ILACA Granada, Spain = cumulative GPA of 2.7, 3.0 preferred
- GEO London = cumulative GPA of 2.7, 3.0 preferred
- TIES = cumulative GPA of 2.7, 3.0 preferred
- Approved Programs = 2.7 minimum, 3.0 strongly preferred (each approved program may also have their own minimum GPA requirement)

The application process generally includes an online application, essays, recommendations, an official transcript (not required for short-term and most Gateway/Featured Semester programs), an advising session and/or interview. However, each application varies and students should consult with an advisor prior to applying. Students applying to an Approved third-party program are required to meet with a Study Away Advisor prior to submitting their application. Additional information from students will be requested for application to some programs.

All Semester study away programs require advising sessions.

First Year and Study Away

The First-Year Experience Program requires that all First-Year students enroll in a four-credit course during J-Term (either on-campus or through off-campus/study away). While some J-Term study away courses have prerequisites, most are open to First-Year students on a space-available basis. First-Year students are not normally eligible to participate in any semester-long study away programs, but are encouraged to explore program models and begin planning for a study away experience to occur in their Sophomore/Junior/Senior years.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

FINANCES: FEES, FINANCIAL AID & CANCELLATION

Fees and Financial Aid

Application fee

To complete an application to a study away program, students must pay a $50 non-refundable application fee. Students participating in multiple programs within the same academic year are required to pay separate application fees for each program.

Program Costs – Featured and Gateway

The cost to participate in Featured and Gateway semester study away programs, listed below, typically includes:

- PLU comprehensive fee for tuition, housing, most meals, study away insurance, and visa (if required) and up to $750 toward airfare.

Additional expenses may include, but are not limited to, passport, partial round-trip international air travel, baggage fees, independent travel, meals not included in the program, cell phone and usage fees, personal spending money and recommended or required immunizations.

Featured and Gateway semester programs include: PLU China, PLU Namibia, PLU Norway (Oslo and Telemark), PLU Mexico, PLU Oxford-IHON, PLU Trinidad & Tobago, PLU TIES, ILACA Granada, GEO London.

Program Costs – PLU-Approved

The cost to participate in PLU-Approved third party programs, offered by providers such as CIEE, IES Abroad, SIT, and others, varies by program. The cost to participate in these study away programs typically includes, but is not limited to:

- The program fee, as published by the provider
- A PLU administrative fee* of $1,500 for semester, $3,000 for academic year or $200 for summer programs

Additional expenses may include, but are not limited to, passport and visas (including travel to consulate), round-trip international air travel, baggage fees, independent travel, housing deposits and/or surcharges, program excursions, lab or science course fees, optional add-ons and other program-specific surcharges, meals not included in the program/supplemental meal plans, cell phone and usage fees, personal spending money, recommended or required immunizations, health plan deductibles, optional study tours, and local transportation to/from classes and optional trip cancellation insurance.

*The administrative fee covers direct services by PLU and the Wang Center in support of the study abroad experience. This includes membership dues, promotion, orientation and reentry expenses, carbon consciousness fees and program development.

Application Fee, Confirmation Payments and Cancellation

PLU Gateway and Featured, PLU short-term and PLU Approved study away programs require a non-refundable application fee, and the majority of these require a non-refundable confirmation payment. A student will forfeit all of these payments if withdrawal occurs. Additional fees may apply following cancellation; see program-specific cancellation policy for more details.

Financial aid may be applied to all PLU Featured, Gateway and Approved programs. This includes State and Federal financial aid (with the exception of work study), University grants and scholarships, and government loans. Other outside scholarships, grants and loans may not apply. Students must receive financial clearance from the University in order to participate in a study away program. Students may use their PLU gift aid on one Approved program experience (for either a semester or an academic year). PLU gift aid may be applied to an unlimited number of Gateway or Featured programs.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

Tuition exchange & Tuition remission benefits do not apply to study away, except for these PLU Gateway programs: China, Norway, Mexico, Namibia, England [Oxford-IHON], Trinidad & Tobago, TIES and PLU International Internships. Tuition exchange students accepted for these PLU-directed opportunities must pay for housing, meals, and all additional expenses associated with participation, including a supplemental fee for internships. Tuition exchange benefits do not apply to any other study away programs offered through third party providers, consortia, etc., as indicated in the Tuition Exchange offer letter. (Also see Tuition Benefits Policy, found at www.plu.edu/human-resources/documents)

Cancellation and Refund

PLU reserves the right to decline an application for off-campus study. PLU further reserves the right to cancel the participation of an accepted student before departure or during the program. Students forfeit the $50 non-refundable application fee for any non-participation circumstances.

In the case where a student withdraws and then wishes to participate in another study away program within the same academic year (ex. transferring an application from a semester program to a J-Term program), the application fee may be applied to the new program within the same academic year per a written request.

PLU SHORT-TERM (J-Term, Spring Break and Summer)

Cancellation of a program/course: Pacific Lutheran University reserves the right to cancel a program/class at any time. Should circumstances require that PLU cancel a program/class, students will be notified immediately. The timing and cause of the cancellation will determine the exact amount of the refund.

Student withdrawal: The initial payments of the $50 application fee and $300 confirmation payment (unless another specified amount based on the program) are non-refundable. All students issued Acceptance Letters will be enrolled in the program for which they have been accepted and will be responsible for paying the program fee. The Wang Center must be notified in writing of any withdrawal or cancellation of an application.

J-Term students who withdraw their participation after August 31st will forfeit their initial payments ($50 application fee and $300 confirmation payment) AND will be charged an additional $300 cancellation fee AND will be charged for any unrecoverable funds expended on their behalf (e.g. airline and/or other travel tickets, deposits, entrance fees, theater tickets, visa fees, lodging, meal advances, etc.). J-Term students who withdraw their participation after December 1st are responsible for the full program fee that has been billed to their student account.

Dismissal: Students who are dismissed from off-campus study because of unacceptable personal behavior and/or academic performance are responsible for all program fees and will not receive academic credit for the class. Students are responsible for making travel arrangements and are also responsible for the associated cost of travel changes. The Wang Center may request a copy of the final itinerary from the dismissed student.

Global Scholar Award Recipients: Receipt of the Global Scholar Award to qualified students is contingent upon participation in the study away course. This award is not transferable to other programs or for other financial needs. Students who receive a Global Scholar Award are responsible for reimbursing the University for the amount of the award if they withdraw, cancel, are dismissed, or are unable to participate for any reason.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

PLU SEMESTER (Gateway)

Cancellation of a program/course: Pacific Lutheran University reserves the right to cancel a program/class at any time. Should circumstances require that PLU cancel a program/class, students will be notified immediately. The timing and cause of the cancellation will determine the exact amount of the refund; all efforts will be made for a full refund on behalf of the student.

Student withdrawal: The initial payments of the $50 application fee and $300 confirmation payment are non-refundable. All students issued Acceptance Letters will be enrolled in the program for which they have been accepted and will be responsible for paying the program fee. The Wang Center must be notified in writing of any withdrawal or cancellation of an application.

Students who withdraw at any point will be charged for any unrecoverable funds expended on their behalf (e.g. airline and/or other travel tickets, deposits, entrance fees, theater tickets, visa fees, meal advances, etc.).

Students who withdraw their participation 90 days or less in advance of the program start date will forfeit their initial payments ($50 application fee and $300 confirmation payment) AND will be charged an additional $300 cancellation fee AND will be charged for any unrecoverable funds expended on their behalf (e.g. airline and/or other travel tickets, deposits, entrance fees, theater tickets, visa fees, meal advances, etc.).

Students withdrawing after the program start date will be responsible for 100% of the program fee as billed to their student account; an exception will be made for students who withdraw in time to return to campus and enroll full time at PLU for the same semester, in which case the student will forfeit their initial payments ($50 application fee and $300 confirmation deposit) AND will be charged an additional $300 cancellation fee AND will be charged for any unrecoverable funds expended on their behalf (e.g. airline and/or other travel tickets, deposits, entrance fees, theater tickets, visa fees, etc.).

Students withdrawing after their study away program start date that are unable to return to the PLU campus to enroll full time for the same semester will receive a grade of Withdrawal (W) for any uncompleted courses if they return no more than three months after the program start date (Academic Withdrawal deadline), per the PLU practice on campus.

A student that leaves prior to the end of the program and after the Academic Withdrawal deadline and/or fails to complete and turn in all required academic work prior to departure will receive a failing grade in any outstanding assignments or exams, which may lead to a failing grade in his or her courses.

The following circumstances may warrant exceptional approval of a withdrawal after the Academic Withdrawal deadline: a serious accident or illness, a severe psychological problem, or a family emergency such as death or a serious accident or illness. If, in an emergency, a student needs to depart early or is unable to complete a requirement of one or more courses after the Academic Withdrawal deadline, the student must ask permission from the Program Director who will consult with the Wang Center. In the rare instance that an exception to the Academic Withdrawal policy is granted, PLU will assign one of two grades for courses left uncompleted:

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

- a grade of Withdrawal (W) if the student leaves the program after the Academic Withdrawal deadline and receives approval from the Wang Center;
- a grade of Incomplete (I) if the student leaves the program after the Academic Withdrawal Deadline and less than two weeks prior to the end of the program, and where academic circumstances allow a student to complete exams or submit final assignments that occur after his/her departure. Under these circumstances, students must receive written approval to be issued an I for these courses, accompanied by a clear outline of completion requirements and due dates for all missed work.

Dismissal: Students who are dismissed from off-campus study because of unacceptable personal behavior and/or academic performance are responsible for 100% of the program fee and will not receive academic credit for the semester. Students are responsible for making travel arrangements and are also responsible for the associated cost of travel changes. The Wang Center may request a copy of the final itinerary from the dismissed student.

Global Scholar Award Recipients: Receipt of the Global Scholar Award to qualified students is contingent upon participation in the study away course. This award is not transferable to other programs or for other financial needs. Students who receive a Global Scholar Award are responsible for reimbursing the University for the amount of the award if they withdraw, cancel, are dismissed, or are unable to participate for any reason.

PLU SEMESTER (Featured)

Student withdrawal: The initial payments of $50 application fee and $300 confirmation payment of participation program payment are non-refundable. All students issued Acceptance Letters will be enrolled in the program for which they have been accepted and will be responsible for paying the program fee. The Wang Center must be notified in writing of any withdrawal or cancellation of an application. Students who withdraw their participation 90 days or less in advance of the program start date will forfeit their initial payments ($50 application fee and $300 confirmation payment) AND will be charged an additional $300 cancellation fee.

Cancellation and withdrawal policies from the program provider will also apply (GEO, ILACA). Students should contact the program provider for specific details.

Dismissal: Students who are dismissed from off-campus study because of unacceptable personal behavior and/or academic performance are responsible for 100% of the program fee and will not receive academic credit for the semester. Students are responsible for making travel arrangements and are also responsible for the associated cost of travel changes. The Wang Center may request a copy of the final itinerary from the dismissed student.

Global Scholar Award Recipients: Receipt of the Global Scholar Award to qualified students is contingent upon participation in the study away course. This award is not transferable to other programs or for other financial needs. Students who receive a Global Scholar Award are responsible for reimbursing the University for the amount of the award if they withdraw, cancel, are dismissed, or are unable to participate for any reason.

APPROVED (Semester and Summer)

Student withdrawal: The Wang Center must be notified in writing of any withdrawal or cancellation of an application. Students who withdraw their participation 90 days or less in advance of the program start date will be charged a $300 cancellation fee by PLU in addition to the $50 non-refundable application fee.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

Cancellation and withdrawal policies from the program provider (e.g. IES Abroad, CIEE, SFS, SIT) will also apply. Students should contact the program provider for specific details.

Dismissal: Students who are dismissed from off-campus study because of unacceptable personal behavior and/or academic performance are responsible for 100% of the program fee and will not receive academic credit for the semester. Students are responsible for making travel arrangements and are also responsible for the associated cost of travel changes. The Wang Center may request a copy of the final itinerary from the dismissed student.

HOUSING DURING STUDY AWAY

To provide security and comfort to the greatest extent possible, and to take advantage of cultural opportunities such as home stays, students must reside in the housing accommodations provided by the program. Students may not elect to arrange housing independently, even when this is an option offered through a program provider. Short-term faculty-led program participants typically reside in shared hotel rooms with other program participants of the same gender; all such accommodations contain a sufficient number of single beds based on the number of occupants.

INSURANCE

Students and dependents, if applicable, are required to maintain their domestic health insurance policy while studying away. If they do not have a domestic insurance policy, they are required to purchase short-term domestic insurance for the duration of their study away program. More information can be found here: www.plu.edu/health-center/insurance-fees/. Additionally, students may not waive out of the PLU Wellness Plan while away. More information is available here: www.plu.edu/health-center/wellness-access-plan/.

A supplemental study away insurance policy that includes travel assistance, accident & sickness coverage, emergency evacuation, and repatriation is included in the program fees for all study away international Short-Term, PLU summer, Gateway, Featured, and Approved semester programs.

More information about EIIA Generali/Europ Assist here: <http://www.eiia.org/internationaltravel/>

Trip cancellation insurance is a separate and optional insurance that students may purchase on their own.

LGBTQ+

The Wang Center seeks to foster an inclusive and welcoming community of learners that values diversity and difference at home and abroad.

As such, the Wang Center supports students in identifying study away programs that are queer-friendly through curricular offerings as well as on-site services, such as LGBTQ+ friendly homestays and on-site support organizations that make the study away experience more welcoming for each individual student.

http://www.nafsa.org/Connect_and_Network/Networking_with_NAFSA/MIGs/Rainbow_SIG/

MEALS DURING STUDY AWAY

The number of meals provided varies by study away program. Check program details for more information. PLU students participating in full year continuous Gateway Programs are only eligible for a meal stipend during the January term provided the student is enrolled in program-related coursework on-site or is enrolled in independent coursework, including internship credit, through PLU. Students on Approved programs are advised to seek this information directly from program providers.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

NON-U.S. PASSPORT HOLDERS

PLU supports all students in their pursuit to study away. Since governmental policies may change, we strongly recommend non-U.S. passport holders - this may include those with Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA), Green Card (permanent residents), and International Student visa status, etc. - to seek counsel with an immigration attorney before considering study abroad as an option.

Refer to this resource for more details about pursuing study abroad and DACA:

http://www.nafsa.org/Resource_Library_Assets/Regulatory_Information/Resource_Page_On_Deferred_Action_for_Childhood_Arrivals/#students

PROGRAM PETITION

Students wishing to participate in a study away program that is not approved by PLU may submit a proposal to the Wang Center for Global Education and the Global Education Committee to seek one-time approval for the proposed program. All PLU study away policies and requirements are applicable to this one-time approval. Executive Director of Wang Center for Global Education has final authority to approve/deny petitions.

If students choose to participate on an unapproved program during the semester, they will withdraw from PLU for their study away term, will not be eligible for financial aid, and will be responsible for transferring the credit earned to PLU should they reapply to PLU upon return.

Students are not normally approved to participate in any non-PLU J-Term study away programs.

Students who wish to use PLU gift aid for a second Approved Semester Program must submit a proposal letter to the Global Education Committee prior to applying to the program. This proposal should highlight that their academic needs cannot be met on a PLU Gateway or Featured Program.

REFUNDS

Students who opt out of program-funded experiences due to illness or personal choice are not eligible for a refund, nor will the experience be made available at a later date.

SAFETY AND TRAVEL WARNINGS

PLU does not allow students to study in sites that are designated by the U.S. State Department as existing under a travel warning. Current travel warnings can be found at: <http://travel.state.gov/>.

Students must attend all mandatory study away orientations which include important information about health and safety issues related to international and off-campus travel. Failure to attend mandatory study away orientations may result in dismissal from the program.

Pacific Lutheran University reserves the right to cancel a program/class at any time. Should circumstances require that PLU cancel a program/class, students will be notified immediately. See Cancellation and Refund section for more details.

Independent Travel

Students often maximize their time away with personal travel before, during and after the study away program. Such travel is permitted provided students adhere to and recognize the following policies:

PLU does not allow students to partake in personal travel to or within countries that are designated by the U.S. State Department as existing under a travel warning or trade block.

Travel to approved destinations before the program start date, including early arrival, is considered personal travel.

POLICIES RELATED TO STUDY AWAY

For personal travel to approved destinations during and after the program dates, students must follow program-specific policies related to communicating personal travel plans with on-site contacts. Some programs may have policies that limit personal travel, to which students must adhere.

The University is not responsible for any incidents that occur during personal travel before, during or after a study away program, nor is it responsible for any costs incurred by the student for such personal travel, including any requested travel deviations from group travel arranged by the Wang Center.

PLU's international travel insurance provides coverage while a student is on personal travel abroad before, during and after their PLU study away program unless.

SENIOR RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT

The final 32 semester hours of a student's program must be completed in residence at PLU. This requirement is satisfied when students participate in PLU Gateway, Featured and Approved study away programs, for which the credits earned appear on the PLU transcript.

Students may study away during their final semester at PLU, but should be aware that the posting of grades and graduation date may be significantly delayed.

STUDENT CONDUCT

All students participating in off-campus study programs must review and sign the Student Agreement for Off-Campus Study in accordance with PLU's Student Conduct Policy.

In addition to PLU Code of Conduct, students must abide by the laws of the host country (related to personal weapons, sexual relationships, drug use, etc.) during their study away.

<http://www.plu.edu/srr-policy/>

If accommodation due to student behavior must be made to enable continued participation in the program, the student is responsible for costs associated with accommodation; if such accommodation is refused by the student, s/he may be dismissed from the program at their own expense per the dismissal policy.

SUMMER PROGRAMS

If students choose to use their financial aid and receive PLU credit for their summer study away, they must work with the Wang Center to study through an approved program. Students must adhere to the appropriate Wang Center deadlines, attend the mandatory Wang Center orientation and pay a $200 administrative fee.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

Students who transfer to PLU must satisfactorily complete at least one semester of study on campus before they can apply to participate in semester or year-long study away programs. Students who transfer to PLU in fall term may apply to participate in off-campus J-Term courses in that same academic year. The eligibility of J-Term participation for students who transfer to PLU for spring term will be determined on an individual basis.

VETERAN STUDENTS

Students are enrolled for full time status at PLU while studying away on semester study away programs and earn PLU credits that fulfill major, minor, GenEd/IHON, and elective requirements. Therefore, GI Benefits may be applied toward the tuition component of study away fees provided the program meets GI Benefit requirements. More information here:

<http://www.iie.org/en/Programs/GI-Bill-Benefits-for-Study-Abroad>